A new convenience is being added for postal patrons in front of the Cameron Postoffice.

It means we won't have to get out of our cars to mail our letters anymore.

Postal officals said that a new mailbox with chute attached will make it possible for people to drive up in front of the box, reach out side the window of their cars and deposit their mail in a matter of seconds. Then on our way.

It's real handy and is another indication that Cameron is going "uptown" as the young generation would describe modern trends.

I have used this convenience, as many others have I am sure. My advice is make sure your car is stopped before you let go of the mail.

Otherwise, this service is foolproof. It's nice not to swing out of the car on a rainy day and get drowned mailing a postcard. And it's a lot safer at rush times not to have to stop in the middle of the intersection waiting for a place to park in front of the PO.

I've always had an affinity for the mail service ever since I was taught at the age of 6 to respect the sancity of U. S. Mail and its carriers.

It was winter and the mailman was trudging ahead of me, toting his bag of mail and creating the only moving target for a snowball. Though not wearing a tophat, he was a particularly fine target because of his postman's cap.

I threw the ball. He got the snow, somewhere in the mailpouch. He corrected my aim by grabbing me and washing my face with the silvery water. And I had learned my lesson.

There is seldom any snow around anymore. The mailman has little concern about snowballs, though he still must contend with dogs, weather and longwalks .... all of which are changing.

We're going anecdoteless this week due to a shortage of local vintage humor. Drop us a line with your interesting yarn or humorous incident, won't you?

C-C, Milam Work On Industrial Site

Officials Okay Lease Idea On County's Farm

The Cameron Chamber of Commerce and the Milam County commissioner's court are working out a 99-year lease on the county farm property as an industrial site, Chamber Manager Richard Moseley said today.

"The commissioners unanimously agreed, within their legal means, to work out a lease for a 99-year period," Moseley said, "subject to a periodic renewal clause if the property was not developed industrially within a reasonable time."

The 60-acre site is located just northwest of Cameron's city limits and has the Southern Pacific railroad line running through that acreage.

Moseley said, "the proposed agreement with the commissioners court will prove mutually beneficial to the county and city since it provides a basic need for getting industry and would provide county tax valuations not now existing.

He described the move as "a tremendous step forward in the direction of progress."

The Walled Lake Door Co. has factory facilities north of the site on the same Southern Pacific line.

The site would provide adequate land to offer prospective industry on a desirable basis, Moseley said.

The land in past years has been farmed to support what is now called the County Farm, Judge Don G. Humble told The Herald.

About 10 people now live in the facilities on the farm, but the land is not being cultivated, he said.

Moseley noted that avilability of the land greatly enhances the Chamber's opportunity to secure new industry for Cameron.

Oakes Assumes Bell Telephone Wire Chief Post

Southwestern Bell Telephone officials this week announced that Rama G. Oakes has assumed duties as wire chief in Cameron succeeding Hershel Biggs.

Biggs, 28, has been transferred to Southwestern Bells Waco office where he will be on the engineering staff. He has been wire chief in Cameron since December, 1957.

Oakes, who is 26 and single, is moving from Galveston where he was repair foreman. He began his new duties in Cameron Monday.

A 1955 mechanical engineering graduate of Texas Technilogical College, Lubbock, he is originally from Fort Worth. Following college graduation he served with the U. S. Army Corps Engineers as a First Lieutenant.

Oakes has been with Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. since March 1957.

The Biggs have made their home at 807 N. Houston in Cameron and have been active members of the First Baptist Church. They plan to move to Waco sometime this month.

At C of C Banquet

Economist Slated

Dr. Arthur A. Smith, vice-president and economist of Dallas' First National Bank, will be the featured speaker at the Cameron Chamber's annual banquet Wednesday, March 18.

The Dallas economic expert will address an expected 400 capacity crowd at the First Methodist Church Recreation Building, according to Charlie Burke program chairman.

The program will include introduction of new Chamber officers for the 1959-60 year and announcement of the McCullin Award winner for the outstanding Cameron citizen of 1959.

Smith has served as head of the economics department, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, from 1938 to 1950.

Manager Richard Moseley said Smith is widely known as a public speaker and lecturer at numerous national conventions.

The economist's record includes impressive services such as: Arbitrator in labor-management disputes, instructor in the American Institute of Banking, lecturer at the School of Banking of the South, Texas Bankers Study Conference, Florida Bank Executives Conference, West Virginia Bankers School and many others.

His Dallas civic activities include: Member of Board of Directors of Greater Dallas Planning Council, Business Advisory committee of US Bureau of Labor, Dallas Crime Commission, National Conference of Christians and Jews, and Park Cities Rotary Club.

Smith is noted for his down-to-earth talks, Moseley said, which captivate audiences with his wide experience in economics and business.

State To Let Bid On $319,000 Road

An April 17-18 letting is scheduled for the Cameron-Marak-Yarrellton rural road, according to County Judge Don G. Humble.

The estimated $319,000 farm-to-market road project was assured by completion of obtaining of right-of-way along the 10.012 mile project late last week.

State Highway officials have assured county officials that the new FM 2269 project will be let to the lowest bidder in Austin next month, Humble said. The hurry-up bid letting will be in time to complete all but bridge work by the state's November 1 paving deadline.

Humble told The Herald that bridges along the route will probably be completed by January, 1960.

Final right-of-way clearance beat a 30-day deadline called for by highway officials who had asked that the road either be completed or turned back to the state, Humble noted.

About 3 per cent of the total project cost has been completed in engineering and surveying the route. The road will intersect SH 36 at the Cameron city limits. It generally follows the route of the unpaved Marak road.

Humble said the contractor will have 175 working days to complete the road.

Bryan district highway officials rushed the project through the state office for final approval prior to the letting date, Humble said, to beat the fall surfacing deadline.

A fund of about $4,000 was raised by property owners off the right-of-way to assist in obtaining right-of-way along the farm-to-market road's route. The state does not pay for any part of right-of-way under the rural road program though it will participate 50 per cent on federal and state highway projects, he noted.

Citians Donate New Equipment To St. Edward's

A new Instant-Writing Electrocardiograph machine was added to St. Edward Hospital last week in a drive for modern medical equipment which has included purchase of new -ray machines and an X-ray dryer.

Sister Albert, hospital administrator, announced that the new equipment had been made possible through donations by Oxsheer Smith, Lester Williams, Mrs. J. A. Brock, St. Rita's Circle, Dr. G. G. Zedler, Dr. T. E. Crump, Dr. E. O. Smith Jr., Dr. S. H. Richardson, Dr. C. G. Swift, Dr. T. C. Green and the Rev. George Duda.

Operated by the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word, the hospital has also recently established a new four-bed ward for Negro patients.

Cameron P-TA To Elect New Officers Here

The Cameron Parent Teachers Association will elect new officers at their regular meeting tonight in Ada Henderson cafeteria, followed by a program which will include Hilliard Thomas on "Educating for Citizenship" and coaches James Speer and Murphy Webster on "Sports in Relation to Citizenship".

The nominating committee composed of Mrs. Jack DuBois, Mrs. Dana Monroe and Mrs. Elizabeth Zelisko, will make their report during the business meeting.

Serving as officers of the PTA this year have been: Mrs. E. O. Smith Jr., president; Mrs. Jack DuBois, first vice president; Mrs. E. A. Pearson, second vice president; Mrs. W. C. Wallace, recording secretary; Mrs. Louis McKee corresponding secretary; Mrs. O. G. Chamberlain, treasurer; Mrs. Anita Schofield, historian; and Mrs. Bob Foster, parliamentarian.

Officers elected at tonights meeting will be installed May 7.

Stove, Tractor Cause Two Fires

An exploding oil stove Monday failed to injure anyone at the residence of Sussie Cramer, 505 S. Austin, fire department officials reported Wednesday.

Meanwhile firemen raced to the John Albert Tarver farm at Meeks when a tractor caught fire as gas was added. The motor was running, officials said.

A tire was burned on the tractor.

H. O. Witts Suffer Minor Injuries In One-Car Collision

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Witt of 1004 North Fannin were treated at St. Edward's Hospital for injuries resulting from a one car accident 2½ miles south of Minerva last Thursday night.

Mrs. Witt told The Herald that the accident occurred when the headlights failed on their 1955 pickup truck. The truck skidded and hit a culvert as Mr. Witt attempted to bring the vehicle to a stop on the wet pavement.

Witt, a drilling contractor, received a broken leg in the accident and his wife was treated for head lacerations. They were brought to Cameron in a Phillips and Luckey Ambulance.

The truck was described by Mrs. Witt as a total loss.

The Witts have 4 children: Hilton of Houston, Kathy, a senior at Yoe High School, Calvin, age 11, and James David, 7.

Dads Hold Bids, Okay Speed Laws

The City Council Tuesday night withheld approval on two bids for the Jackson-Sixth St. paving project and approved an ordinance establishing new speed controls on city highways.

City fathers also okayed paving of two more blocks of streetway on E. 18th from N. Fannin east to N. Washington and planned a bid call for paving of E. 10th St. following installation of a storm sewer under the street.

In a three hour session, the council also approved final payment of $5,820 on the city filtration plant for covers constructed by Graham Construction Co.

Officials said state approved water for Cameron would follow application and state inspection by the Texas Health Dept.

Denies Payment

But the city turned down payment of a $103 bill to the Elm Fork Construction Co. that developed in a mis-addition of costs to final payment which was approved by engineering consultants last fall, Mayor Bassel Wilson said.

Turndown of the Jackson-Sixth St. bids was voted by the council after Wilson reported that two property owners on Jackson and six on Sixth St. had not yet signed a city petition clearing the way for paving.

The mayor said that some of the property owners will be assessed by $1 per running foot cost to assure completion of the project.

The bid from two out-of-town companies showed a wide variance in cost, officials noted.

The new speed control ordinance was approved on first reading by the council. City Atty. Jack Prescott read the state-recommended controls that would allow 50 to 30 m.p.h. speeds on highways through Cameron.

The recommendation followed a traffic study completed by the state.

The council also recommended

Official Seeks Citizens Help In Sprucing City

Public Works Supt. John Earle has invited Cameron citizens to join the city in a clean-up campaign of streets, alleys, and gutters.

Earle told The Herald that his department hauled away 42 loads of trash, burnings and other debris in the past two weeks.

He invited all Cameronites to join in the civic beautificaton drve. He sad that once gutterways are cleared of debris, they are much easier to keep clean.

Earle cautioned citians about burning leaves and other materials in gutters and leaving the ashes. He said the material flows into the sewers and clogs things up besides leaving unsightly blotches along Cameron's streets and road ways.

Schools Hold Open House

Public To View Science Fair

Yoe High School's second annual Science Fair, expected to be the finest program displayed in the area, will be the highlight of Public Schools Week here.

Cameron Public Schools have been open all week to parents and interested citizens in observance of Public School Week, and local civic clubs held their noon meetings at the school cafeteria according to Wiley Loughmiller, superintendent.

Hundreds of area residents visited the first science fair last year and school officials this week were hoping to double the attendance.

Fair Opens 6 p.m.

The fair, which will be held in the gymnasium on the Yoe High School campus, will open to the public at 6 p.m. Friday and award winners will be announced at 8 p.m., Mrs. Herbert Nance, science teacher, told the Herald.

Seventy dollars worth of prize money will be awarded top winners .The entries will be judged in two divisions, Physical Science and Biological Science.

Top prize in each division will be 12, second prize will be $8; third prize, $6; fourth prize, $5; and fifth prize will be $4.

Prize Money Donated

The Cameron School Board donated $50 for the fair and the Parent Teachers Association donated $20.

Mrs. Nance reported that the fair was held especially to encourage students who show scientific interests.

Last year's top winners were Roger Terry, first place with an electric organ and second place, James Manning, with his process for making baking soda. Third place was won by Delores Zalesky who entered a detailed drawing of a fish.

Projects Entered

Among entries listed by students are: regeneration of Planeria, Shielding Against Radiation (effects), Process of Making rayon, Vandergraff Generator, Bernoulds Principal of Flight, Experimental Rocket, Growing Crystals, Methods of Water Purification, Glass Eching, and a Volcano Eruption.

Research projects will be based on National Science Fair requirements of Research Nature.

The recent addition of Geiger Counters to the Yoe science department, from the office of Civil Defense, has spurred interest in projects studying radiation.

Smith Files For Board

Deadline Nears

Both incumbents have filed for re-election on the Cameron School board while the filing deadline approached for candidates for the City Council.

Niley J. Smith, incumbent school board member, filed earlier in the week to join Dr. David Shapiro as candidates for the three-year school board term.

Filing deadline for the school board was midnight Wednesday, according to Max Howard, school board secretary.

Meanwhile the midnight, March 7 filing deadline neared for city council candidates, City Sec. John Andres said. Three incumbents, Hayden Lawrence, Lincoln Mondrik and Richard Moseley, filed for re-election in February. All three are running for a second term.

Smith and Shapiro are also seeking re-election for the first time. Shapiro has completed one three-year term while Smith is completing an unfulfilled term vacated by Don G. Humble.

At presstime, no other candidates had filed for a spot on the school election ballot.

The school election will be April 4 while the city election will be April 7. In the case of more than two candidates running for the two posts, the top two vote getters will be elected, Howard said.

City Council candidates are running for places in the city. There are five places, two of which were considered last year when Roy Griffith and Sam Houston were elected. Bassel Wilson was elected May last spring.

State Board Controls Rough Fish

By Vern Sanford

We've been reading a great deal in the newspapers recently about selective kills and the netting of rough fish in Texas lakes and streams. This job has become so big and so important that the Game and Fish Commission is using airplanes and helicopters to spread rotenone on the surface of major impoundments.

Such work has been carefully planned. Through constant testing, the fishery biologist has learned exactly how much rotenone is required to kill off certain kinds of rough fish without affecting the game fish that are in the water.

He also has learned that where there is a preponderance of rough fish, the game fish population diminishes. Bass that should weigh four pounds never get much larger than yearlings. And soon net tests on the lake show that by both weight and number, the rough fish have taken over.

Most of us think of rough fish in terms of carp, buffalo and gar. One of the major problems, however, is the hickory shad, which is prevalent in every lake in Texas. Shad multiply by the millions. They soon take over, consuming food that otherwise might go into making bigger and better game fish.

When an impoundment becomes overpopulated with these fast breeding shad, there are three methods of control.

Simplest, of course, is to empty the lake. Sometimes this is done. But seldom is it practical.

The next step is a selective kill. Usually the water of the lake is lowered. Then a mixture of rotenone is spread over the surface of the lake, either by plane or boat. This is the latest and the preferred method.

Within the last few years many tons of shad have been killed by this selective treatment. Better fishing always has resulted. It is a constant job, however, because the shad multiply fast. Even in lakes where they have been completely killed out, they are re-introduced by fishermen who bring in minnows which include shad.

This chemical treatment of water is o job that should not be done by individuals. Biologists of the Game & Fish Commission have spent a great deal of time in research. They also have worked closely with other biologists in other state departments. They have come up with a pretty exact science which is important to the future of fishing not only in Texas, but elsewhere.

Fishermen Helpful

There also is another factor in rough fish control that should not be overlooked. This is the legal commercial fisherman.

Although many rod and reel fishermen hate such fish as carp and buffalo, there are others who like their meat. The same is true of gar. This fish finds a ready market in large centers of population.

Right here we might say a word in behalf of the numerous commercial fishermen who work many of the lakes and streams of Texas. These fishermen are required to have a license from the state. They are not allowed to take and sell any game fish. In some waters they are not allowed to take catfish.

On the other hand, these commercial fishermen each year take thousands of pounds of such fish as carp, buffalo and gar.

Recently I watched a couple of these commercial fishermen at work. They were running a net across a channel in one of our North Texas lakes. They were in a 12-foot aluminum boat. Their net must have been a couple of hundred feet long. Before they had reached more than a third of its distance, they had their boat almost filled with these rough fish. They had to return to shore and empty the boat before they could run the nets again.

They got two boatloads of fish from that net in an overnight haul. They iced the fish down in a pickup and hauled them to the nearest city fish market, where they found a ready sale.

There have been times, and probably still will be, when commercial fishermen will ignore the law and take game fish when they shouldn't. Sometimes they use excuses that the fish was caught in the net and died before they could get it out. Warders and biologists are watchful of these fishermen. Those who violate the law lose their licenses.

There always is a need for the commercial man who is legitimate.

In fact, this need may grow as time goes on. Ken Jurgens, assistant director of Inland Fisheries think so. He says the time is coming soon when fish management will be required to fill the needs for fish.

"When that time comes, the commercial fisherman, with his currently undesirable fish, may fill a great demand for food fish," he said.

Juergens also paid tribute to the many individual or corporation lake owners throughout the state.

"Some of these places are taking the lead in experimentation which is helpful on public waters," he said. "Their leadership is badly needed, with fishing pressure increasing every day."

An understanding of what is being done to improve fishing helps us appreciate the quality of fishing we are getting now, as compared to only a few years ago.

Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in a test of repeated stops at highway speeds conducted and certified by NASCAR*. Chevy also won over the other two in a NASCAR economy run—with the highest gas mileage for 6's and V8's at cruising speeds of just over 55 miles an hour.

Here's a car that knows how to get the most out of a gallon. And it's the only car in its field to bring you hydraulic valve lifters in all popular engines—6 and V8. This means smoother, quieter performance for you.

There are many other advances just as fundamental as the efficiency of Chevrolet's engines and the dependability of its new brakes (with more lining area than any other low-priced car). But why not stop by your dealer's and let Chevy do its own sweet talking!

National Guard Adds Member

Battery C, 649th Anti-aircraft Artillery Battalion reported today that one of its former members, Specialist - 3 Billy J. Haddox, enlisted in the unit again this week.

Haddox was a member of Battery C about 3 years ago. He recently completed a two year tour of active duty with the Army. A resident of Rockdale, he is employed there by Alcoa.

Haddox was sworn in in his Army grade as Specialist - 3 during the Battery's week-end drill period Sunday.

The all day training session, Battery C officials said, was another in its series of week-end drill periods. The Guardsmen reported at the Armory at 8 a.m. and were on duty until 5 p.m. except for an hour break for lunch, which was prepared and served by the Mess Section.

Council -

that Leland Green, Jr., J. T. Parma and B. F. Stewart be named to the 1959 city tax equalization board. The three Cameron business men served on the board last year.

Councilmen also heard James Wiggs, representing Childress Insurance Agency, present a plan to reduce three-year premium costs on insurance for City Hall from $990 to $715.

Tables Discussion

In other action, councilmen tabled for further study a plan to hire a fulltime man to run the city swimming pool this summer with the city netting all profits from concession, swimming lessons and admission fees.

Public Works Supt. John Earle told councilmen he was establishing a cost control system on all city vehicles and equipment and asked for consideration to build a fence along two sides of the new city motor park building.

Officials planned to meet with the State Water Board March 16 to request right to dam additional water on Little River to serve the expanded capacity of the city's new water system.

And Wilson called for better controls on city record files as he reported detailed vouchers missing from statements paid by the city.

The council authorized City Sec. John Andres to present specific records to anyone requesting them, but not to allow anyone to browse through records at random.

The council was to study records this week to see how discrepancies may have developed.

Officials recommended that inventories of city equipment in all departments be maintained in keeping with past recommendations made by auditors for the city.

Delphian Club Hosts Texas Historical Tea

An exhibit of treasures from Texas early days were on display for the Delphian Club Historical Tea at the home of Mrs. S. M. Harrell Tuesday afternoon.

Dresses preserved from the time of Texas' early statehood were worn by the hostesses: Mrs. A. W. McCullin, Mrs. E. J. Davis, Mrs. Walter Grimes, Mrs. E. A. Flinn and Mrs. Harrell.

Gathered for the tea in observance of Texas Day were photographs, clothing, letters, currency and furniture.

Of particular interest was a 92 year old small childs chair made of ash from the Little River Bottom provided by Miss Mary Randolph and matching side chairs from the first Supreme Court of Texas which are owned by Mrs. Mary R. Henderson.

Other objects drawing attention in the exhibit were Texas Treasury Warranty Notes dated 1862 and 1865, a doll from the collection of Mrs. R. L. Batte Sr., and a number of photographs of early Texans.

Tea was served in the dinning room from a table centered with an arrangement of Dutch iris, red camelias, plum blossoms and japonica flanked by two small Texas flags. Mrs. Alvin Roberts and Mrs. Carroll Green presided at the silver tea service during the afternoon.

Arrangements of red camellias and Dutch iris also decorated the exhibit rooms.

The Way Is Clear...

Right-of-way has been obtained and work will begin as soon as final state approval and bids will allow on the farm-to-market road connecting these communities.

The estimated $319,000 project will mean a surfaced road to an area of the county long needing better and safer road service.

Officials report that even landowners off the right-of-way donated to a $4,000 fund that was divided among landowners whose property the new road is to cross. The county gains no assistance from the state on obtaining rural road right-of-way and is unable to settle with property owners in the manner made possible by 50 percent co-operation for right-of-way from state funds.

The concerted effort met a deadline imposed by state highway officials for obtaining right-of-way. Residents responded to the need for the road when it appeared the road might be lost.

The success of this propect seems to predict continued improvement of Milam County's farm-to-market system even when the county is limited on right-of-way funds available in each commissioner's precinct.

When State and County officials and citizens work as hard and as closely as they did on the Marak project, success for a project can be the only outcome.

This 10-mile road will serve hundreds of families that heretofore have had to ruin tires, hazard mired road and suffer the many inconveniences of outmoded unsurfaced roadway.

It is a sign of good roads coming Milam's way at the right time. With metropolitan Texas areas crying for new roads, Milam County has little time or little chance to compete in the future for road budgets now available.

Finds Out How Some Phonograph Records Got Played Over The Air

Dear editar:

I don't listen to the radio much, mainly because with a radio you have to listen right then or you'll miss what's said, while with a newspaper you can wait around til you're in the mood and have a chance to prepare yourself to face what happened in the world yesterday, but once in a while I do listen and something about radio that has puzzled me a long time has now been cleared up, although I'll have to admit it took a newspaper to do it.

Here was my problem: when I'd tune in to hear some news, lots of times a music program would be on, and since I figured the news would be on in a few minutes and there wasn't any use in going to the trouble of changing the dial, I listened.

What puzzled me was how some of the music I heard got there. "Here's a record that's zooming upward," the announcer would say. I think they call him a disc jockey although I ain't up on that phase of culture, and what came over the air was unbelievable. And when the singer started singing, well, if I had a calf that couldn't bawl better than that, I'd have it rendered for soap.

I couldn't figure out how such a record ever got played, not to mention how anybody could claim it was zooming.

Well, this has been cleared up. According to a newspaper I read last night, the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee has turned up some evidence that racketeers have been forcing juke box owners to buy phonograph records.

I knew somebody must have been holding a gun on somebody else to get such music played.

But it'll never succeed. I mean, while maybe the racketeers can force record distributors to buy their records, it's going to take a lot of mobsters to hold enough guns on enough people to make them listen.

On the other hand, I've heard some records that weren't forced on anybody, they're played night and day, on radio, T.V., juke boxes and kids' portable record-players, and I'll tell you it's going to take an expert to tell which record was forced on the public by racketeers and which one by teenagers. I'm glad I'm not on the Senate Investigating Committee when this problem comes up. Turn that music down and let me read. Where's my copy of The Herald? Or something. Anything will do.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

56th Legislature Is Like Snowplow

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN—56th Legislature is moving like a snowplow — with the snow still falling and the snowballs flying.

Taxing and spending committees are pushing doggedly through their hearing schedules. But new bills are still swirling into their path, and, in whatever direction they move, they're constantly pelted with objections.

With the 120-day session nearing the halfway point, each passing day increases the possibility that they'll come to the May 12 quitting deadline still "snowed under."

Overhaul Plan

Rep. Frates Seeligson is pushing his take-some, add-some tax plan as a long-needed updating of Texas' tax structure.

Seeligson (of San Antonio) told the House Revenue and Taxation Committee that many taxes still on the books (such as those on clock peddlers, waxworks, medicine shows, etc.) are no longer useful. Others, such as the chain store tax, he called inequitable.

Seeligson's bill would repeal some 38 such taxes and increase levies in other areas — auto sales, cigarettes, liquor, beer, corporation franchises. His plan also would include two ideas backed by Gov. Price Daniel — to take over abandoned property for the state and to make a bookkeeping transfer of $18,000,000.

Other new tax ideas are to increase the levy on beer from $4.30 to $10 a barrel, by Rep. Leon Chapman of Anson.

Rep. W. T. Oliver of Port Arthur has introduced a five per cent gross receipts tax on hotels, motels, rooming house rentals and airline passenger business. Oliver also proposed a five-cent-a-gallon tax on soft drink syrup and a three per cent levy on pop sales.

Gals At It Again

That hardy repeater from many past sessions, the women's equal rights amendment, is back again.

Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas is sponsor of the proposed constitutional amendment which would remove legal restrictions on women.

Representatives of the Federated Business and Professional Women told the Senate Committee that some Texas laws classify women with "infants, imbeciles and lunatics." They pointed to the statute that prevents a married woman's selling, without her husband's permission, property she acquired on her own hook.

As usual, no one opposed the women. But the proposal was packed off to the attorney general for a "full appraisal of what effect it would have."

Of Church And State

Religion and politics got mixed — with explosive results — when four legislators announced they'd hear atheism was being taught in state colleges.

A bill to require all faculty members in state schools to take an oath they believed in a supreme being was introduced by the four. They are Reps. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline, Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs, Ben Lewis of Dallas and W. T. Dungan of McKinney.

College officials and university pastors joined in calling the charge "ridiculous." Several University of Texas spokesmen, both educators and ministers, said they had never known a time when there was more sincere interest in religion among both faculty and students than at present.

Why Vaccinate?

Sen. Floyd Bradshaw of Weatherford and the medical profession are at odds as to the value of smallpox vaccinations.

Sen. Bradshaw refused to send his four children to Austin schools which require vaccinations, and is teaching them himself in his office. He also introduced a bill which would prohibit local school boards from requiring that children be vaccinated before they can attend school.

Quoting from a 34-year-old medical article, Bradshaw told the Senate Public Health Committee, "the bedbug is the sole conveyor of smallpox.

But medical spokesmen credited vaccinations with eliminating the scourge that once killed thousands every year. Dr. J. M. Coleman of Austin told the committee that allowing children to come to school un-vaccinated had the same "potential for destruction" as allowing them to bring "pistols and switchblade knifes."

Sergeant Mortimer attended Milano High School and entered the Army in 1946. He has been in Europe since last August with his wife, Lora.

Rural Minister

Nominations for the "Texas Rural Minister of the Year" must be submitted to Progressive Farmer magazine by April 1. Reagan Brown, extension rural socialogist urges all communities to recognize their religious leaders by nominating them for this recognition.

I sure would like to have him but I know some others would, too." What about Liberty? The Panthers are beginning to like winning. Perennial football champs, the Gold-shirts have now won a district basketball championship .... H. G. Anderson, LaMarque's gift to University of Texas football, is waging battle once more with Harlandale's Bob Harwerth in Longhorn spring training .... College track coaches are taking a long look at Angleton's all-state quarterback, Randy Curson. The talented youngster won the state half-mile as a sophomore .... Brazosport, where Bayler line coach Harden Cooper now hangs his hat, is the smallest school in District 12-4A .... Overtime basketball games are a rarity but Bay City won a double overtime thriller from El Campo early in the seasons. One of the state's most sought junior college basketball players, George Gordon, high-scoring Victoria guard, may be headed for Texas A&M. A Fort Smith, Ark. youngster, the 5-11 Gordon is a cousin to Jim Gordon, prominent Rosenberg businessman.

George scored 457 points in 21 games, hitting 42 against Schreiner and 37 against San Angelo with the Aggies' Bob Rogers and Texas' Jimmy Viramontes sitting in .... Sam Houston State gained one of the state's most prized recruits of two seasons back, Tackle Bill from the University of Texas. The big Baytown lad has great potential .... The Roy Harrises are expecting their first child in April. The Cut and Shoot heavy has recovered from the head cold which stalled his last fight. .... Robert Mann, Cameron Herald Sports editor, boosts Yoe basketball. "Coach Bill Kruger finished his first full season at the reins of the Yoemen with a fairly successful season," he penned in his column. "Next year," he continued "the fans are going to expect just a little more and Kruger appears to be the man to uphold these expectations," .... Coach Bobby Roberts' Lockhart Lions won their district championship a first time since 1950 and went unbeaten in loop play for the first time in 13 years. Jim Fielder, 6-1 pivot man, is the team's leading scorer .... Kenedy's Clair Branch is not in school this spring but should be one of the niversity of Texas's top fullbacks this fall.

WHO IS the smartest pitcher in the major leagues?

Eight out of ten players say Early Wynn, the Chicago ace bought from Cleveland couple - years ago.

Says John P. Carmichael, sports editor of the Chicago Daily News: "Wynn is a money pitcher, the likes of a Lefty Gomez, a Robert Grove, a Dizzy Dean, a Red Ruffing. He has pride."

Wynn, today is 40 as time is measured. But he's still regarded as one of the game's most prolific payoff pitchers; a guy who has so many pitches, after all these years that he virtually doesn't have to throw any of 'em to win on a good day.

There is irony here, for despite Early's reputation among batters, somehow he has escaped proper recognition. Whitey Ford, Herb Score, Bob Turley or even a newcomer like Ryne Duren are more widely known.

A self-made pitcher, Wynn does not complain. For he remembers worse days. Before Bill Veeck brought him to Cleveland in 1948, he toiled for the hopeless Washington Senators. On one road trip, in 1942, the Sens lost 20 games and Early took it on the chin in 11.

He still says: "I don't think I was that bad, but those are the figures."

One super big-league hitter discusses Wynn with disdain. "He's the only guy I know of who makes you hit his pitch when the count is three-two."

"I ws brought up to believe that in such a situation, the batter always got his pitch, not the pitcher's choice."

Social Security Sets April 15 Deadline

April 15, 1959, is the final deadline for most ministers to elect social security coverage, according to Maurice M. Chastain, District Manager of the Social Security Administration, Temple.

All mnisters or clergymen who received net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more (any part of which was from the exercise of his ministry or the performance of duties required by a religous order) during any two years of 1955, 1956, 1957, or 1958 must file a Waiver Certificate before this deadline if they wish to have their earnings from the minstry count toward social security protection. If a Waiver Certificate is not filed with the Director of Internal Revenue before the April 15, 1959, deadline, these persons' earnings from the ministry can never be counted toward social security benefits. Ministers who are teaching in a denominational school or college are included in this group.

Mr. Chastain stated that his office has a supply of Waiver Certificates and printed information which would be furnished to anyone requesting it. The Temple Social Security Office is located in the First National Bank Building.

'The Hanging Tree' Among Top Films At The Milam

"The Hanging Tree", one of the important film events of 1959, spotlights the intriguing new romantic combination of Gary Cooper and Maria Schell in a drama-charged frontier background.

Filmed in Technicolor amid the breathtaking mountain scenery of the Northwest, "The Hanging Tree" introduces Cooper and Europe's Marie Schell as a potent new box office team. An added dividend cast-wise is Karl Malden, one of the Screen's most versatile actors and winner of an Academy Award.

Other top screen features coming to the Milam are: "I want To Live" starring Susan Hayward, March 15-16; "The Story of Albert Schweitzer," March 17; and "Mardi Gras" combining the talents of Pat Boone, Gary Crosby, and Tommy Sands, March 29-30-31.

Susan Hayward has been nominated for an Academy Award for her role in "I Want To Live" which is scheduled for the Milam next week.

"These are only a few of the first-run pictures shown regularly at the downtown Milam Theatre," says Bill Peck, manager. He adds "the finest in refreshments and popcorn are also avilable to all movie-goers.

An 11 year veteran with the two Cameron Theatres, owned by Cameron Theatres Inc., Peck said "The personnel and management of both the 77 Drive In and Milam Theatres strive to give our customers the utmost in movie entertainment for their money. Be sure to see one of these movies coming up, they will prove that movies are better than ever, and you will prove to yourself that Cameron's Milam Theatre is keeping up with the latest in theatre equipment for your enjoyment."

The Milam Theatre recently completed installation of a new Simplex sound system for the enjoyment of Cameron theatre goers. The new system is rated better than the best high fidelity that money can buy according to Peck.

A native Cameronite and graduate of Yoe High School, Peck was named manager of the Cameron Theaters in July, 1957. Succeeding Dean White. He also attended Sam Houston State Teachers College and Southwest Teachers College, San Marcos.

A & M Contest Planned

Plans are complete for the swine carcass contest to be held as a part of the annual Swine Short Course to be held at Texas A & M College, April 6-7. T. D. Tansley, extension animal husbandman says that county agents have complete details on the carcass contest.

Antibiotics Tested On Plant Diseases

By J. D. Moore
County Agent

For many years about the only remedy for plant diseases were the copper dusts and sprays commonly known as "Boadeaul" spray.

Research is now testing the addition of streptomycin to the metallic copper compounds to control certain plant diseases.

Last year a number of people asked for information on controlling "Fire Blight" in pears. This disease also did considerable damage to Pyracantha plants used commonly as shrubs to bear orange and red berries for color in landscaping yards. Symptoms of the disease is die-back of the limbs during the summer months. Generally, this disease is spread by insects collecting nectar from the blossoms.

For control, the plants should be sprayed when about 1-3 of the blooms have appeared. The treatment should be repeated for two or three weeks using a fungicide spray.

Our office has a limited supply of a demonstration spray called AGRI-MYCIN. We would be glad to furnish some of this spray to individuals interested in controlling "fire blight" on pear trees and Pyracantha plants. Those interested may check with the secretary at the county Extension office.

199 Cage Clinic

The 1959 Cage Clinic will be held Wednesday, March 25, in the Ballroom of the Memorial Student Center, Texas A & M College. A copy of the program is at the county agents office. The number of laying hens kept in cages in Texas continues to expand. In 1953 there were an estimated 272,000 hens in cages. In 1958 there were an estimated 3,556,000 hens kept in cages for egg production.

The speakers for the 1959 Cage Clinic are qualified to present useful information on the subjects which have been selected on the basis of interest and concern to Texas egg producers. There will be an opportunity for questions and discussions.

Swine Short Course

The Eighth Annual Swine Short Course and Carcass Contest, sponsored by the Animal Husbandry Department in cooperation with the Texas Swine Breeders Association, will be held at Texas A & M College, Monday and Tuesday, April 6 and 7.

A program is being planned that will be equally beneficial to the commercial producer and purebred breeder. One of the highlights of past meetings has been the carcass contest in which producers brought hogs that competed for prizes. The carcass contest will be held again this year. We hope you will consider the invitation to participate. Barrows and gilts that weigh 200 to 220 lbs will be eligible. Any producer may enter one animal but purebred breeders submitting littermates for breed meat-type certification may enter two. Complete information about the carcass contest will be forthcoming soon.

Much interest has been manifested in the production tested boar sale to be held on Monday night, April 6. These boars were placed on test in October and November at the A & M Boar Testing Station and all boars sold at auction will have satisfactory rate of gain, feed efficiency, and meat-type records. It will be the first opportunity for producers to buy boars in Texas with such complete production information.

New Bulletin Available

A new bulletin, MP-312, LET'S HAVE A CHICK-N-QUE, is available at the county Extension office. This bulletin has been especially prepared to give information on chick-n-quing. It gives special emphasis to the family size chick-n-que which will meet a need for those who wish to do outdoor cooking. This is growing more popular each year.

Cage Clinic Set For March 25

The annual Cage Clinic, sponsored by the Poultry Science Department of Texas A & M College, will be held on March 25. Ben Wormeli, extension poultry husbandman, says that attendance at previous clinics has averaged over 500 and indications point to another good turnout for the 1959 clinic.

The use of cages by commercial egg producers in Texas continues to expand. In 1953 an estimated 272,000 cages were in use while more than 3,500,000 were in use last year. Wormeli points out that much of the recent increase has been in Colony cages and this subject will be discussed during the clinic. Dr. John Quisenberry, head, Poultry Science Department will give the results of research done at A & M on the performace of hens in colony cages.

Dr. Clyde Driggers, head, Poultry Division of the University of Georgia, will speak on contract egg production and the changing nutritional needs of laying hens as it relates to age and season of the year.

Dr. A. W. Brant, Agricultural Research Service, USDA, will present the potential opportunities afforded by the proposed federal-state egg quality program. Other speakers from the Texas poultry industry and the Texas A & M College System will handle subjects of prime importance to egg producers and insure a profitable day for those in attendance.

Wormeli says that local county agents have a copy of the day's program and suggests that they be contacted for details. All egg producers have a special invitation to attend. Starting time is 8:50 a.m. the meeting place the Memorial Student Center and the last program feature is set for 4:15 p.m.

New Bulletin Reviews Research, Finds On Destructive Bollworm

The pink bollworm has for years been one of the most destructive cotton insects, causing serious reductions in yield and quail of affected cotton. In 1952 alone this pest caused an estimated 28 million dollar loss in a 38-county area of South Texas.

Until the advent of DDT, there were no effective chemical means for controlling pink bollworms, so farmers relied almost entirely on such measurers as regulated planting, stalk shredding, early harvesting and plowing under cotton debris. These methods were not completely staisfactory and research for better methods of controlling the pink bollworm were continued.

A bulletin has been released summarizing much of the work conducted during 1953-57 by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in search of better ways to combat the pink bollworm. It is entitled Chemical, Cultural and Mechanical Control of the Pink Bollworm.

The bulletin explains the life history of the insect, nature of the damage it does, and then goes into the various means of control. It is available free of charge from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for Bulletin 920.

A school for managers of agricultural cooperatives will be held at Texas A & M College, March 16-19. R. W. Cooper, extension Economist in farm organiation, says that attendance is expected to be near 100.

If it's insureable, George Childress has the policy for it at low cost. Monthly premium payments available. —Adv.

Increased Cotton Yield Despite Adverse Weather

Ross Sache, Navasota cotton grower, says: "This past cotton year made me a believer in Phillips 66 Ammonia. Bad weather had stunted my cotton. My cotton set more squares for higher yield of lint per acre, despite a poor start."

Tennis, an underrated sport by most of Cameron in general became a part of campus activities at Yoe High last week.

Youngsters appear to have the same enthusiasm held each year as interscholastic league draws near and tennis is one of the most well participated in sports of any during the Interscholastic League meet.

Ernest Bayer, freshman football star plans to play baseball when practice begins during the next two weeks under the direction of Coach Jim Speer.

Bayer, 185 pounder pitches and plays first base. Despite lack of experience Bayer will carry his share of the team's load and he seems to be just as enthusiastic over baseball as he was at football.

—VOS—

Speaking of baseball it wouldn't hurt to name a few of the Yoemen's top potentialities.

Ray Tepera, all-district catcher last year will be set at the catching position. Bayer could be the number one hurler, Bobby Griswold hard hitting sophomore is capable of playing any infield position. Carroll Fikes, another outstanding sophomore, will be a mainstay in the infield or on the mound.

Coach Speer has named the probable managers for next year. Head manager will be Paul Hauk assisted by David Hudson and Ronnie Williams. Triney Alverez will serve as trainer.

Income Tax Facts

Questions and Answers About Your Individual Income Tax Report for 1958, as Presented By The Texas Press Association

Did you receive benefits for accident or sickness, or were your wages continued for the period that you were off work because of sickness or accident?

If so, the amount you received because of accident or sickness, if received from an insurance company where you paid the premiums either directly or through payroll deductions, is not taxable income.

The amount you received because of accident or sickness where your employer paid the premiums to the insurance company, or where your employer himself paid your wages while you were off sick, is not taxable income up to the first $100 per week you received after the first seven days you were off.

If you were in a hospital for any day while you were off sick, then no part of the amount you received, under $10 per week, is taxable.

If you have received over $100 per week, the excess over $100 per week is taxable income to you, but only if you did not pay the premiums to the insurance company, or if your employer is simply continuing your wages.

If you paid the premiums on the insurance yourself directly, or by having them withheld from your paychecks, then no part of any amounts that you receive as sickness or accident benefits is taxable income.

If you receive medical expense reimbursement, then you cannot deduct as medical expenses the bills that were reimbursed.

If you deducted medical bills in a prior year, ann this year receive reimbursements for them, then you should include the reimbursement in your income, but only if the deduction in a prior year gave you a tax benefit.

Where your W-2 slip includes payments to you which are not taxable because they are benefits for sickness or accident, or are wages paid while you were off work due to sickness or accident, as above, you enter the total amount of your wages on line five of the tax return and then deduct the tax free amount on line 6.

Be sure to attach a detailed statement to your tax return showing how you figured this. When you were off—what happened, if you were in the hospital, etc.

Better still, get Form 2440 from the Internal Revenue Service and use it.

Yoe Group Observes National FFA Week

The Cameron Future Farmers of America participated in National FFA Week, February 21-28 with members of the organization speaking on KMIL's farm program, "Country Visitor" to Kiwanis and Lions Clubs.

The Chapter also presented an assembly program at Yoe High School. Following the assembly, Miss Genevieve Kostroun, Chapter Sweetheart, was presented with a FFA Sweetheart jacket.

Revenue Officer Explains Child's Status As Taxpayer, Dependent

Parents may find they can claim their child as a dependent on their 1958 Federal income tax return even though the child earned $600 or more during 1958, A. P. Andrews, Administrative Officer of Internal Revenue in Temple, said today.

He explained:

"Even though your child is required to file an income tax return if he has income of $600 or more for the year, you also may claim him as a dependent if certain conditions are met.

"If you have furnished more than half of his support, you may claim an exemption for him regardless of the amount he earned, providing he had not reached his 19th brithday by January 1, 1959.

"When the child is 19 or over, you still may claim an exemption for him if he was a full time student during five calendar months in 1958, and if you furnished over half of his total support during the calendar year. A full time student is one who is enrolled for the number of hours which is considered to be full-time attendance.

"In addition to attendance in the regularly recognized high schools and colleges or universities, your child also will be considered a student if he is pursuing a full-time on-farm training course under the supervision of an agent of a State or political subdivision.

"Your child is not considered to be a full time student if he is employed full time during the day and attends night school, or if he is taking a correspondence course or an employee training course."

These special rules apply only to the taxpayer's own child (including an adopted child or a step-child). Any other child, whether or not related to the taxpayer, may not be claimed as a dependent if he has gross income of $600 or more, regardless of his age or his status as a student, and regardless of the fact that the taxpayer contributed over half of his support.

Parents are also reminded that, if their child is married and files a joint return with his or her spouse, no exemption may be claimed for that child even though all the other tests are met.
